3. Theme & Sub-Themes of the Capacity Building & Personality Development Programme

Capacity Building is a process by which the individuals are able to maintain and strengthen the capabilities to set and achieve their own development over time. This process makes one aware of the inner self that enables his/her confidence to face challenges in the external world. The programme entitled Capacity Building and Personality Development is intended to familiarize the students with a comprehensive idea on soft skills and their effective use in building up competence and confidence in the present context. The entire programme are divided into three distinct sections:

A. Personal Capacity Building: The section aims at developing awareness in career and psychological well being of the UG level girl students through interactive session. In addition to that, the session intends to put special emphasis on personality grooming and can aid students in understanding the intricacies involved for placement in corporate world. The section also sheds light on the perfection of personality by inculcating values in one's life. The following are the primary objectives.

- i. To orient and sensitize the students about capacity building
- ii. To make the students more self confident
- iii. To enhance the communication skills for professional growth
- iv. To generate group discussion skills
- v. To develop analytical skills and skills for problem solving
- vi. To familiarize the students with the skill for time management and stress management

B. Professional Career Skills: Skill development is one of the direct drivers of economic empowerment. Central government and different state governments and leading NGOs of India have already been implementing various flagship programmes for minimizing the existing gap between the skilled and unskilled youth. It is a reality that large number of female students residing in rural areas and even the drop out students have been unskilled in comparison to their male counterparts. It is also a phenomenon that females working in private sectors are sometimes given meager amount as wages in comparison to the male employees. The female students of the college have already motivated to and oriented towards career opportunities under the initiatives of the IQAC & Career Counselling Cell of the college. But the ground reality is that they often get demotivated due to some socio-cultural taboos and due to the illiteracy of their parents. The session is expected to help the female students in going beyond the prevalent perception of gender stereotypes deeply rooted in their minds. The socio-cultural taboos hinder the female students to opt for desired career opportunities. In the session, the students are taught the presentation skills and the skills required for facing an interview. Listening skills, oral presentation skills/speaking skills, resume preparation, group discussion, interview facing technique, decision making and leadership skill are required for the students. Hence, immediate focus of the institution of higher education should be on the production of skilled man power.

C. Digital Literacy and Effective Use of Social Media: The contemporary society is undergoing rapid changes in the knowledge landscape and thus, there arises the necessity to create techno savvy human resources in HEIs. With various scientific and technological advances such as machine learning, machine translation and artificial intelligence, many jobs worldwide have already been taken over by machines. This situation demands skilled workforce with multidisciplinary competence. This is why, this capacity building programme is expected to be an effective orientation for the girl students so that they can contribute towards India's economic growth. In addition to that, the students are also oriented towards proper use of different social media sites like Facebook, Twitter, Instagram etc. in their day to day life. The programme also motivates the students to use social media platforms more as learning sites than that of using these sites as a source of entertainment. The programme is also expected to generate awareness in the students towards cyber crimes and cyber security.

In view of the above, there is always an urgent need to empower the female students of the UG colleges of our District with a view to reaching at the goal of Make in India concept envisioned by our Hon'ble Prime Minister in particular. The programme would definitely open up new employment opportunities for women.

4. Welcome Address

On the dias Hon'ble Vice Chairperson, State Women Commission, Assam, Mrs Nilima Devi, distinguished Guest, Mr Prakash Chakrabarty, Vice Principal, Chilarai College, Golakganj, invited Resource Person for Technical Session-II, Dr Sanjib Kumar Goswami, Associate Professor & HoD, Kamrup College, Nalbari, other dignitaries in front of me, esteemed teacher-in-charge from various UGC/PG colleges of our district, invited guests, colleagues, office bearers of Chilarai College Students' Union, my dear students.

I, on behalf of Chilarai College, Golakganj feel honored and privileged to extend a very warm welcome to all the distinguished guests present today in one day long National Commission for Women, New Delhi sponsored Capacity Building and Personality Development Programme (CB& PDP). The Capacity building programme is the result of a prolonged combined effort of Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) and Career Counselling and Placement Cell of Chilarai College, Golakganj, college management, my learned colleagues and students.

Chilarai College, Golakganj was established in the year 1973 as an institution of higher education, and has, over a period of time, emerged in the year 1973 as a potential institution for the cause of empowering mostly the OBCs and the marginalized women class. Named after the 16th century Koch Kingdom, General & Military Commander-in-Chief, Mahabir Chilarai the college has been thriving hard to live its dream that its founding father had dreamt of. Granted deficit system in 1987, enlisted in the UGC Acts 2(f) & 12(B) in 2001, provincialized in 2005, Chilarai College, has successfully completed two cycles of NAAC Assessment & Accreditation in 2004 and 2015 and has secured Grade-B in both the cycles. The college is preparing for Cycle-3 NAAC Assessment and Accreditation. As a part of glorious journey the college has opened BBA stream and introduced two new subjects Tourism & Travel Management and Sanskrit at a later period. The Government of Assam has also enlisted the college for introducing Science Stream but it is still waiting for the recruitment process. The college has already utilized Rs 10 lakhs from Government of Assam for setting up laboratories.

To start with the topic of this one day long National Commission for Women sponsored capacity building programme, there is a common perception in India that the real India lives in villages, as around 70% of India's population are essentially from the rural backgrounds. In the context of higher education in our country, there is an identical picture where 60% of total colleges for higher education in India are located in rural areas. And the challenges are many when you think about the prior educational backgrounds of the students. There seems to be rural and urban divide in terms of the use of technology by the students. The students from the rural areas are deprived of being exposed to skill oriented programmes. Students have potentials but they can not be motivated to explore their hidden abilities so that they can be skilled human resources.

To conclude, once again I would like to express my deepest gratitude and thanks to all the distinguished guests present today and genuinely look forward to enlightening interactive sessions by the invited Resource Persons. Once again I welcome you all and wish you pleasant stay in

Chilarai College, Golakganj. I beg apology to all the learned gatherings ~~in case~~ there is inadvertent error on my part and wish all very meaning ful and productive sessions ahead

Thank you all.

Dr Bharat Bhusan Mohanty, Principal , Chilarai College & Chairperson, Capacity Building & Personality Development Programme.

Keeping that in mind, Dr Bharat Bhusan Mohanty, Principal & Chairperson, CB & PDP paid homage to the stone statue of 16th century Koch Kingdom General & Military Commander-in-Chief, Mahabir Chilarai in presence of the students and the faculties and non teaching staff of the college. Technical Session-I

Topic: Personal Capacity Building (10 am-11.30 am)

Resource Person: Mrs Nilima Devi, Vice Chairperson, State Women Commission, Assam & Chief Guest and Keynote Speaker, CB & PDP

Mrs Nilima Devi addresses the gathering by a comprehensive understanding of the personal capacity building which is relevant to the UG/PG level girl students at the present context. She has urged the participants to build up their confidence and competence to face emerging challenges of our time apart from their upskilling to enter into diverse sectors after their completion of graduation. Her speech is a clarion call towards making the girls more self reliant, more empowered in the society. Mrs Devi also shared some life narratives of leading women from various states of our country who excelled in sports, education and other avenues. It is high time for the girls of younger generation to take an active role in society. She also reminds the students that they may be caught in the nets by vicious circles in our society. Their role would be to free our society from the evil effects of oppression, humiliation and cruelty shown towards woman as one of the vulnerable groups. In addition to that, she also focuses on building a gender bias free society. In her view, a woman has been experiencing injustice at multiple levels in our society. It is not that being a woman becomes a victim due to her gender attribute only. In the context of Northeast or India women's victimization is caused by the interactive roles played by multiple factors like, race, ethnicity, caste, class etc. She makes the students familiar with some eminent women activists of India and directs them to be the responsible citizens of our country.

The next agenda of her talk is on multiple emerging opportunities for women in the present context. Acquiring diverse skills at colleges & universities, students need to prepare themselves for better opportunities. From her observation, Mrs Devi says that there is good number of female employees working in government and private sections of ours state. It is really a good sign for the women. But it is also seen that there exists some discriminations in paying the salaries/wages to the women especially in private sectors. Hence, this situation necessitates a clear policy by the government. Mrs Devi appreciates the value based & skill oriented courses under NEP 2020 in India. She hopes that girl students in higher educational institutes of India would be more benefitted by the implementation of NEP 20. She also calls upon all the colleges of the District to strictly monitor the cases against girl students if any in the educational institutes so that a healthy academic environment can be built up. She requests the authorities of the colleges to take necessary steps following the existing guidelines of government and other bodies like UGC. The session is highly interactive and some of the speakers addressed the queries of the students. At the end, Mrs Devi encourages all the participants to rebuild their personality so that they can lead the society and can be the resources of our country. She also motivates the students to enroll themselves in different skill oriented schemes introduced and implemented by the government.
